BRITISH WORRY.
WALL ST. WORRY.
HE OWNS COMPETITION.
TO KILL, OR NOT TO KILL.

—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1930, By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BRITAIN has a new worry in India, fear of treachery among native troops.

Only a few British are in India, less than the population of a small American city, among 300,000,000 Hindus.

To what extent native troops and police can be relied on, in view of intense national feeling is a serious question.

The British are shifting native troops, official reports referring to "unsatisfactory conduct," which means that natives would not obey orders to shoot their own people.

ANOTHER DAY OF worry in Wall Street yesterday, stocks off 2 to 7 points, worst day since the whirlwind last fall.

The gambling game had begun to come back, speculating on hopes instead of facts.

The time for that has not come.

Cost of travel by air and rail between New York and the southwest is reduced to less than regular railroad and Pullman car travel.

Flying from New York to Dallas, Tex., or Oklahoma City you save $6.24 in cash, 18 hours in time.

And these cuts are made by the Pennsylvania railroad itself.

Wise General Atterbury, head of the Pennsylvania, decides that if he must have air competition, he will own the competition.

ANOTHER ENERGETIC effort is made to abolish capital punishment. Such efforts come by fits and starts. Recent burning alive of convicts in the Ohio penitentiary convinces people that convicts should not be burned alive when they haven't been sentenced to death.

WILL DURANT WRITES against capital punishment earnestly. At the beginning of the last century, when the question was agitated it was called an insult to the judges of England. They knew what was good for criminals.

There is more involved in the question than criminals or their welfare, and that is the question of heredity.

For at least 100,000 years murder has been punished with death. And probably the human race has been improved somewhat by destroying murderers as fast as they were caught.

If capital punishment now frightened criminals or helped to rid the human race of the killer type, it would be a good thing. But it probably does neither.

Laws that inflict capital punishment, which is simply killing officially, are in themselves murderous, setting a bad and disgraceful example.

A REPORT ON TWO JAILS in New York says prisoners "are caged like animals." Men unable to furnish bail, innocent or guilty, are sent to these prisons. It makes a difference, even in our perfect democracy, if you happen not to have any money.

IT IS A MISTAKE TO BURN prisoners alive in unsafe prisons, a mistake to jail them like "caged animals." Quite apart from human decency, it doesn't pay. Men thus caged are up to cause trouble when they leave the cage.

DELEGATES TO THE naval conference are back from London "confident" that real results have been achieved.

A majority of citizens are satisfied to know that no great harm has been done.

Delegates have not brought back any five-power agreement under which this country would be obliged to send over billions of money to be spent, and men to be shot, in case Europe decided to start another war.

CANTON JUNGLE WILL BE AIRED, REPORTS STATE

Cleveland Paper Tells Of Craft, Racketeering Which Flourished

OFFICIALS GAVE PAID PROTECTION

More Than Twenty May Be Indicted, Claim; Liquor Limits

(By The Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, April 30.—The Cleveland Plain Dealer today said more than two dozen Canton, O., politicians, police officers and liquor operators will be indicted for conspiracy by the next federal grand jury as the result of a highly organized system of graft existing in that city before the present administration took office Jan. 1.

Thousands of dollars were paid weekly into the hands of Canton officials in return for protection to speakeasies and rum runners in an elaborate scheme through which liquor sellers not only were permitted to flourish openly but were even safeguarded in territorial rights, the paper said.

Patrolman Hurlis Charge
The investigation was supposed to have started as the outgrowth of charges made by a patrolman during the last political campaign that prohibition could not be enforced because the hands of authorities were "shackled with gold chains" through a racket headed by a police sergeant.

For the last three months, Deputy Prohibition Administrator John E. Wright's agents have been in Canton taking statements from police men, liquor manufacturers, rum runners and speakeasy operators implicating the ring leaders. A full report of the investigation is in the hands of the United States Atty. Wilfred J. Mahon, but he declined to comment on its revelations. It is considered certain, however, that he will place the evidence before the grand jury in the next two weeks.

BIRTH CONTROL CHURCH TOPIC

Lutherans Expected To Take Action In Ohio Joint Synod

CLEVELAND, April 30.—A stand against birth control was expected to be taken by the Augustana conference of the Lutheran joint synod of Ohio today after an address by Rev. O. C. Mees of Canton.

Rev. Mees declared that the church should preach "as frankly against birth control as the Bible testifies against it" in the address he outlined for delivery. He said that the church has the only adequate voice against birth control.

The church has been and is beating about the bush on the holy question," he added. "It needs to make a vigorous attack on the problem, which is undermining the home." He urged that the church preach and teach "a higher moral standard and the sacredness of all family relations."

A general discussion of means of combatting birth control was to be held by the 30 ministers attending the conference following Rev. Mees' address. The sessions, which began yesterday with consideration of theological and doctrinal questions, will continue until tomorrow noon.

He also told of success the pensions were enjoying in other states of the union where they have been put into effect. In every instance the project was given needed impetus by Eagles, he stated.

New York state is the most recent addition to states having the pension system, he stated.

OIL EXPLOSION TAKES 2 LIVES

Foreman, New Employee Among Dead; Other Is Hurt

CHICAGO, April 30.—Two men were burned alive in oil early today in an explosion at the refinery of the Dabros Products Corp., four others escaped unhurt, dragging with them a fifth, so severely burned he is not expected to live.

While the explosion, for a time threatened a large portion of the clearing industrial district. Officials of the refinery placed the damage at $160,000, including the loss of oil.

Several fire companies prevented the blaze from spreading to two huge storage tanks, less than 100 feet away, containing thousands of gallons of highly inflammable crude oil, while on the nearby tracks of the Outer Belt railroad, switch engines pushed close to the blazing refinery to save a number of oil cars.

Maintained at a refining temperature of 700 degrees, Fahrenheit, one of the 500-gallon stills is believed to have become overheated while oil was being poured into it, causing the explosion which sent a column of oil through the metal roof and one side of the plant.

James Fleming, foreman of the exploding still, was one of those burned to death. In a laboratory 20 feet away, the body of Walter Kitch, 22-year-old Northwestern university graduate, was found. Kitch had entered the refinery's employ only two days ago. He had been trapped by the wall of fire.

ROBINSON SEEN AS FACTOR IN PARKER BATTLE

Democratic Leader Back As Floor Leader; To Take Part

OHIO SENATORS ARE SUPPORTING HOOVER

Labor, Negroes Attacking Appointment Of Judge John J. Parker

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 30.—The return of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the Democratic floor leader, from the London naval conference was hailed today as a potentially decisive factor in the senate's grim struggle over the nomination of Judge John J. Parker as an associated justice of the supreme court.

The outcome of the controversy was in doubt. The opponents of confirmation, once highly confident of enough votes to reject the nomination, were less sanguine. Spokesmen for both sides were of the opinion that a handful of doubtful Democratic votes held the balance of power.

Robinson Returns Home
Robinson returned to the senate today to enter the contest at a crucial moment. The belief was prevalent at the capital that a good proportion of the Democratic ballots now classed as doubtful would be swung for or against the nominee in accordance with the position taken by the party leader.

The Parker nomination is being determinedly opposed by labor and Negro organizations, contending that the jurist has revealed a prejudice against the working man and the Negro race. Both protests have had a prominent part in the debate, but particularly that of labor, which is based upon Judge Parker's decision, as a member of the federal circuit court of appeal, upholding the so-called "yellow dog" contract and restraining the unions from soliciting workers who had signed this form of obligation.

Leading the opposition, Senator Borah, Republican independent, of Idaho, contended that if the senate confirms the nomination, it (Continued on Page 4)

His worst fear was that the pneumonia might cause of recurrence of the condition that resulted in Baker's breakdown while he was on a speaking tour during the 1928 presidential campaign. He was found suffering from a heart lesion at that time and after six weeks in bed made a trip to Honolulu to regain his health.

Tents To House Convicts In Barbed Wire Enclosure

COLUMBUS, April 30.—The Iron hand of the militia ruled Ohio penitentiary today after more than a week of tumult, climaxed yesterday when national guardsmen entered the prison to put down the mutiny that followed the death of 320 convicts in last Monday's fire.

FUTILE LOGIC

Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, is holding a position whose difficulties and inconveniences rarely have been equalled. Chairman Legge is expected to do something—relieve the farmers.

Yet, anything he thinks of to do is met with an universal show of turned down thumbs and protruding lower lips. One wonders how long Mr. Legge will be able to bear up under the weight of such dour opprobrium.

There is the case of the middle west, Chairman Legge, seeking the cause of the trouble, as a wise trouble shooter should do, recognized that it was over-production. Very simple. The farmers, by taking five per cent of their acreage out of production, would remedy their ills quickly and with no inconvenience. The land thus saved would be turned over to producing a timber crop. The reasoning was unassailable from the first word to the last.

The west imports wood, its newspapers and uplift leagues are forever pleading for more trees—here was the opportunity of a century to fill the farmer's pockets today with profits from wheat and corn and his great grandson's pockets fifty years hence with profits from timber.

The corn farmers, however, have evinced no enthusiasm for Chairman Legge's suggestion. They are willing enough to grant the possibility raising prices by reducing acreage but they suspect that any reduction in their acreage would mean they would have less corn to sell at the higher price.

"Let Jack do it" becomes a serious matter when millions are requested to reduce crops for the common good.

Another very real reason why there has been no rush to plant trees on the prairies is the joker in Mr. Legge's logic about the value of timber to prosperity. Men like to talk about building for the future, but they usually have reference to the kind of building that is going to produce an income while the future grinds itself down through the generations.

The westerner looks upon trees as producers of shade, and shade has no considerable value in wheat and corn regions. If one more use of the hackneyed phrase may be permitted, westerners just aren't "Legge-minded," except in the sarcastic sense that Chairman Legge may choose to put upon that state of being.

The future lumber supply means little to them as long as there are railroads, and cars to bring shiny boards from regions where trees are part of the landscape.

Lack of foresight, selfishness—call it what you please, it won't make the wheat and corn farmers plant their spare acreage in trees.

The farm board, therefore, is headed for another disappointment. The medicine which it offered the sick agriculturalist came highly recommended but it was not attractive enough to get its users talking about it. Furthermore, it couldn't show results soon enough.

There is reason to wonder if, after all, the farmers may not be more interested in sedatives than corrective medicine.

CENSORED

Reports of the revolution in India are becoming more and more confused. Uprisings, arrests, the manufacture of salt are described, but there is little coherence—no complete description of general trends. Mahatma Gandhi still continues to work for the Nationalists and the British still refuse to arrest him, but other than that little is known.

Word received in London warns of censorship of news from India.

a thing which has been suspected for some time past. It accounts, perhaps, for the incompleteness of the dispatches which are made available to the press of the United States, although it is probable that the uprising is too vast to be covered adequately in a country with the communication facilities of India.

The events of the last five or six weeks may be summarized briefly. Mahatma Gandhi has been the central figure, preaching his doctrine of non-cooperation. His now famous march to the sea to manufacture salt by evaporation was the opening act of the passive revolution which he hopes to engineer. Subsequently, a number of important Indian leaders were arrested, which was the thing they had hoped to accomplish, but Gandhi continued on his way unmolested. There have been numerous reports that his arrest was imminent, just as there were numerous reports that his march to the sea would exhaust itself. Nevertheless, he has been permitted to stalk along untouched, addressing crowds and inciting them to boycott British merchandise.

It is to be regretted that the future developments of the revolution in India will be shrouded in more or less mystery, but it is probable that censorship will do no good. The rest of the world understands what is happening and is interested. Sufficient information will be made available in one way or another to keep that interest at a high level.

What Others Say

HAITIAN DEVELOPMENTS

If things are what they seem on the basis of dispatches from Port au Prince, the Haitian council of state is not precisely the truthful and dependable body it might be. After agreeing with the American commissioners regarding a program to be carried out, the members are now showing a capricious and rather dishonorable disposition to disregard their pledge. Instead of preparing to choose Eugene T. Roy to act as interim president in place of Bordet until a general supervised election for the selection of a permanent executive can take place, the members are threatening to kick over the traces and sidetrack Roy in favor of somebody else, apparently for no reason other than a child's impulse to show their "independence." The situation has become so bad that Bordet has decided to disavow the council in order to check its activities.

It is less surprising than regrettable that this condition has shown itself. Except for a few individuals, the political ethics prevalent in Haiti are not high. For the most part they are of the sort native to Zululand or the Congo, rather than the sort which provide foundation work for the establishment of free, orderly government. The conduct of the council of state is an early notice to the United States that the task of educating the Haitians to manage their affairs without indulging in periodic revolutions and massacres is not going to be a simple one, and may be a long process. It is going to be about as easy to educate the Haitians politically as it would be to domesticate a timber wolf.—Detroit Free Press.

HEALTHY HAIR

So many letters have reached me asking for pertinent information on the care of the hair that I am again writing on this subject. There is a lot of misinformation given the public about the hair. It would be a good idea, if you wish to be informed thoroughly in the matter, to get a good book on histology and study the hair.

What we have on our scalps is really dead substance. The hair follicle, buried in the substance of the scalp, is the living thing. Each individual hair is pushed off the hair follicle. The individual hair rests upon this just as the strawberry rests upon the hull.

No harmless substance that you put on the hair does anything to stimulate its growth or change its nature. The only thing that will stimulate the growth of hair is something that will improve the circulation of the scalp. The hair of the head is just as dependent upon the blood supply of the scalp as the plants in the garden are dependent upon the moisture and nourishment taken from the soil.

Clipping, singeing and the application of lotions do nothing to the hair itself. They have no effect whatever upon the growth of the hair. There are stimulating lotions which can be applied to the scalp, and which will perhaps improve the circulation of the scalp. In that way they benefit the hair and promote the growth.

Most persons who are bald have weak-acting hearts. The blood is not sent in forceful streams to the crown of the head. If the person having this sort of a heart is in the habit of wearing a heavy and tight-fitting hat that practice will serve to cut off the circulation and reduce the amount of blood sent to the scalp. That is why one who has a tendency to baldness must be careful about selecting a suitable headgear.

If you ever saw several specimens of hair under a microscope you would understand the difference between straight hair and curly hair. Curly hair has peculiar kinks, in a sense like the joints of a bamboo pole. These cannot be produced by any artificial means. The curling iron, of course, accomplishes a lot in producing an artificial appearance of curliness of the hair. Unfortunately the hair cannot be trained to grow from the scalp in any other way than nature arranged in the first place. I have a cowlick in front and a double crown behind. If I were to wear my hair short it would stick up in front and on the top of my head. Nothing that human genius can invent could make it do otherwise.

Everything that improves the general health enriches the blood and builds up the body will help the hair. That is to say, all these things give health to the scalp as they do to the rest of the body.

Highlights Of Ohio History

By J. H. GALBRAITH

General Robert C. Schenck of Dayton, who had ability as a lawyer, statesman, soldier and diplomat, and rendered valuable service to his country in all four capacities, suffered somewhat through an incident of his life while in England as ambassador from the United States, which caused him to be thought of popularly as a card shark and a gambler.

Though the game of poker is based upon an old card game that was popular in England as far back as the sixteenth century, as it has more recently become popular under the name of poker it is American in origin and sufficiently from its British prototype to be regarded by our English cousins as a new game.

Schenck was appointed to the British mission by General Grant in 1870, and the American game of poker was just beginning to be popular in England. The ambassador played it socially of course, and on one occasion he was requested by an English lady to write out the rules of the game as she was learning to play it and could find no authoritative source of information in England.

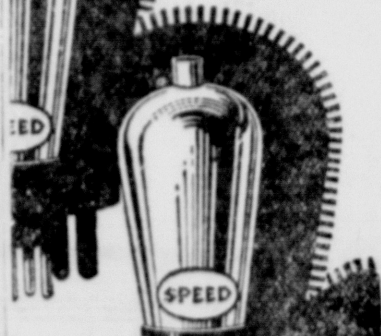

Of course Mr. Schenck obliged her, and in some way the outline of the rules of draw poker, as the game was at first called, which the ambassador thus prepared, found its way into the hands of a publisher who, eager to profit by the popularity of the game, published a book on poker. Much was added to what Mr. Schenck had written, but the game being known as an American one, and the ambassador being the outstanding American then in England, the book came out purporting to be of his authorship, whereas he had no idea when he outlined the rules that what he wrote was to be published.

Under the English laws he had no redress and the book came into great popularity, and the reaction of this country, especially among those who frowned upon card games of all kinds, was decidedly unfavorable. In the popular mind in the United States the publication of the book on poker came to stand as the principal thing in connection with his mission to England, which in fact his work as a diplomat was of high order.

When the Grant family is mentioned one thinks of Point Pleasant, Canton county, where Ulysses S. Grant was born, and Georgetown, Brown county, where the future soldier spent his boyhood days, but the first contact made by the Grants with Ohio was in the northern part of the state, Noah Grant, the grandfather of Ulysses, who had been a soldier in the Revolutionary war, and afterward settled in Westmoreland county, Pa., removed thence about the beginning of the last century Ulysses, who had been a soldier in extreme southeast corner of Portage county.

Here Jesse R. Grant grew to manhood and learned the arts of pioneer life among which was that of dressing skins and tanning hides. Soon after he became of age he established a tannery of his own in Ravenna. The buildings in which this business was carried on was on a principal street, in fact just across the street from the Presbyterian church, and a drugstore stood on the adjoining lot, but the latter was flush with the street while the tannery was in the rear.

But the tannery was in the open yard in front of the tan house. Sanitary laws were not as they are now, of course, or such a situation would not have been permitted.

Up against the side of the drugstore building, an early historian tells of seeing a sign hung: "Jesse R. Grant, Tanner. How Grant prospered is not recorded, but sidelight facts indicate, not very well, for a year later he appeared in Point Pleasant and took employment in the tannery of Thomas Page. Jesse Grant was not yet married, but within a year he married Hannah Simpson, daughter of a farmer.

When Ulysses Grant was born April 27, 1822, Jesse R. Grant was a journeyman tanner, working in Page's tannery and living in a rented house—a house owned by Lee Thompson. When Ulysses was but 18 months old, the family moved away to Georgetown. This was shifting about too much to mean getting along in the world, and Grant senior already was manifesting that disposition to see always better conditions somewhere else, which characterized his whole life.

MOTHERS, WIDOWS HONORED

Gold Star mothers and widows from American Legion auxiliaries in this district, who will sail for France May 14, were honored at a beautifully appointed luncheon given by the Salem unit, Tuesday, at the Legion home, East State st.

The purpose of the gathering was that these women might become acquainted before leaving America. National colors predominated in the decorations. Red poppies were used for the center pieces on the tables and the favors were miniature pots of poppies. Red, white and blue chair covers were used effectively. Places were arranged for 42.

Mrs. Virgil Hakestraw, president of the Salem unit, welcomed the visitors. Interesting talks were given by Mrs. J. Edward Johns, of Massillon, state vice president, and Mrs. Henry Freeman Smith, of Atwater. Mrs. Smith visited in France last year, and she presented each gold star mother and widow with a flower, picked in a cemetery there which she had preserved.

Mrs. R. D. Painter and Mrs. Cora Schwartz contributed two vocal duets.

Twenty auxiliaries were represented. Some of the guests were from Orrville, Youngstown, Canton, Massillon, East Liverpool, Alliance, Niles, Girard, Steubenville, Columbiana, Lisbon, East Palestine, East Sparta.

QUOTA DINNER

Spring flowers were used effectively in the home decorations when members of the Quota club had an enjoyable dinner Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hendricks, Godden rd.

Two members of the Music Study club, Mrs. L. D. Cessna and Mrs. P. J. Stout, entertained with musical numbers. Mrs. Cessna contributed vocal solos, accompanied by Mrs. Hendricks, while Mrs. Stout offered piano solos, and gave a talk relating to music.

The next meeting will be in two weeks.

CARA NOME CLUB

Three tables were in play in the five hundred games when Miss Rose McLaughlin extended hospitality to her associates of the Cara Nome club Tuesday evening at her home, West Second st.

Honors in the games were shared by Mrs. Paul Dean and Miss Helen Endres. Lunch was served at a table made attractive with sweet peas and daisies.

In two weeks the members will meet with Mrs. Roy Leckrone, Jennings ave.

MUSICAL TEA

The St. Agnes guild of the Church of Our Saviour will give a musical and tea at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the home of Mrs. E. S. Dawson, Canfield rd.

Mrs. A. E. Hawke, soloist, and Mrs. Louise Morrison, pianist, both from Mt. Vernon, will furnish the program. Mrs. Hawke is the wife of the rector of the Episcopal church at Mt. Vernon. An offering will be taken.

HONOR MRS. BECK

Honoring Mrs. Nelson Beck, a recent bride, Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, entertained 12 friends Tuesday evening at her home, West Seventh st.

A miscellaneous shower was a feature of the pleasant event. Bridge was the main pastime and Mrs. Elizabeth Jacobs won the prize offered. The hostess served lunch.

Mrs. Beck before her marriage was Miss Amelia Shupe.

E. Y. P. U. TO MEET

Plans will be laid for the summer's work at a meeting of the E. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church at 7:45 p. m. Thursday. Miss Irene Miller will preside.

Plans for the rally at Massillon will also be discussed and the commission plan of service considered. The matter of putting on a play will be taken up.

Three administration senators, Fess of Ohio, Gillett of Massachusetts and Hastings of Delaware, took issue with Borah late yesterday while Ashurst of Arizona, a Democrat, stepped into the fray in opposition to the nominee.

QUIET PREVAILS IN INDIAN RIOTS

Press Censorship Still In Effect; Gandhi Active With Advice

LONDON, April 30.—Unless all news of disturbances is being stopped at the source by British censors, two full days have passed without a serious breach of the peace in India. Closing to visitors of Khyber Pass, outlet from India to Afghanistan, was unexplained, but was regarded as a precautionary act adopted for the protection of Peshawar, which is but 11 miles distant.

A surprise attack was made Monday on the artillery magazine at Barrackpore which may have been intended as a repetition of the Chittagong incident, but it was unsuccessful. One Calcutta report said a sentry was shot in the leg by raiders, whose connection with the Indian nationalist case was uncertain.

Growing opposition among the native press developed to the government's security requirements for papers coming under the censorship. This amounted to 50,000 rupees, or about $12,500. Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the civil disobedience campaign, advised that the owners of the papers submit to confiscation before they complied with the ordinance.

wounding two of their number. It is expected that the stockade will be ready for occupancy by nightfall.

Ironically enough, the structure stands upon the site of the penitentiary baseball diamond.

The stockade, built by military men at the command of a military officer, is nothing more or less than an army war time prison. Col. John S. Shetter, of the Ohio National Guard, himself an army engineer, designed and planned it.

It is 19 feet high, wicked wire barbs form a constant barrier to escape, at the same time they make it possible for the guards to look at all times at the men, pacing to and fro in the enclosure. The stockade is 230 by 240 feet in width and breadth—and its only roofing is the sombre sky which hangs over the huge penitentiary.

Space is ample, officers said today, to accommodate more than the 400 men who will be housed within at first.

Tents To Be Used

The only protection against the elements which the prisoners will have will be tents, each accommodating eight men, these are regulation army tents.

Motor lorries, droning down state from Camp Perry, brought this equipment before dawn today. As they rumbled alongside the penitentiary, half hidden, staring eyes leered and peered from the strangely quiet "white city," beside the tents, hundreds of cots were brought, upon which the prisoners will sleep.

Food will be passed to the men through the barbed wire. Here they will stand as their comrades trudge pass to the prison mess hall.

HOOVER TO GET PARITY PAPERS

President Will Urge All Speed In Ratifying London Pact

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The formal presentation of the official copy of the London naval treaty today held a place of outstanding importance upon President Hoover's engagement list.

Three members of the delegation which represented the United States at the arms conference, were invited to the White House at noon to deliver the treaty to the chief executive, receive his expressions of felicitation and join in a luncheon table discussion of momentous events which they helped in shaping.

Secretary Stimson of the state department, Secretary Adams of the navy, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the returning envoys arrived in Washington late yesterday after being accorded a public reception in New York City.

Overnight, the treaty reposed in a green steel safe at the state department, no stronger than an ordinary filing case. It was brought to the city by William Beck, Mr. Stimson's secretary.

President Hoover plans to submit the document to the senate within a few days, as soon as he has completed a message of transmittal, setting forth merits of the pact, as he sees them, and urging its prompt ratification.

She has been restored to her maiden name, Thelma L. Caton. Gross neglect of duty was charged in the divorce petition filed by Charity A. Roller against Delmore K. Roller, and a decree has been obtained by the plaintiff on this ground. The petition against the defendant was filed Feb. 28 last.

AUTO ACCIDENTS BRING TROUBLE

Crashes With Car While Chasing Other; Fined; Wife Appeals And Fines Grow

LEVELAND, April 30.—The trouble a little display of temper can get a fellow into are something Joseph Bradica, 29, of Canton, will have considerable time to marvel at.

Bradica was driving down Broadway avenue last Friday, when another car nicked the fender of his machine. Bradica, provoked, immediately set out in pursuit and got himself in an accident with a third automobile.

The police took him before traffic judge Kovachy and he drew a $50 fine and 15 days in the workhouse for careless driving. But before his trial was over, Bradica's wife who lives in Cleveland, appeared with the news that he had disappeared after being placed on probation when convicted last November for neglecting their eight-month-old baby, Joseph, Jr.

Bradica was dispatched forthwith to municipal judge Sawacki, who decided upon execution of the neglect sentence of 90 days and a fine of $100.

Canton underworld leaders have told of well defined boundaries laid for liquor operators, within which they were immune from official interference so long as they paid weekly tribute, but beyond which they not only faced the enmity of competitors but certain authorities as well.

Since the federal investigation began and the new administration took office, liquor sellers have become extremely cautious, the Plain Dealer said, but before that bars were operated openly. Bottles were displayed freely and whisky was sold to anyone who had the price.

Parisian Import Duties Are Causing Comment; Gas Tax

Farm Board Also Listed For Share Of Words Before Chamber

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, April 30.—When the city of Paris finally abolished the halting of automobiles at every gate to see if more gasoline were brought back than was taken out the councilmen thought their troubles were over.

But it was only the beginning of their grief, for newspapers have taken up the job of having the whole petrol system abolished.

The Romans are blamed for devising this levying of import duties on merchandise brought into cities. Nearly every country in Europe has abandoned the method except France.

What strikes even the French as strange is that since the time of Clovis I, King of France in 500 A. D., the octroi has been condemned by a long succession of rulers and ministers of finance and by about all the people, but it never dies. It was abolished during the French revolution in 1791, but was restored promptly when the country grew quiet. Some towns have discarded it but Paris, where it causes the most criticism, has hung on to it as a tax producer.

Not On Necessities

Theoretically the octroi is supposed not to put a tax on the main requirements of the common people. Wheat, for instance, is free so as to keep down the price of bread. The tax has spread, however, to many articles so that today it admittedly increases the cost of living in a hundred ways. Even building materials pay duty as they are brought into the city. When automobiles, Jan. 1, were relieved from getting a little green slip, or export certificates for their gas, when leaving the city still retained the tax on gasoline in quantities.

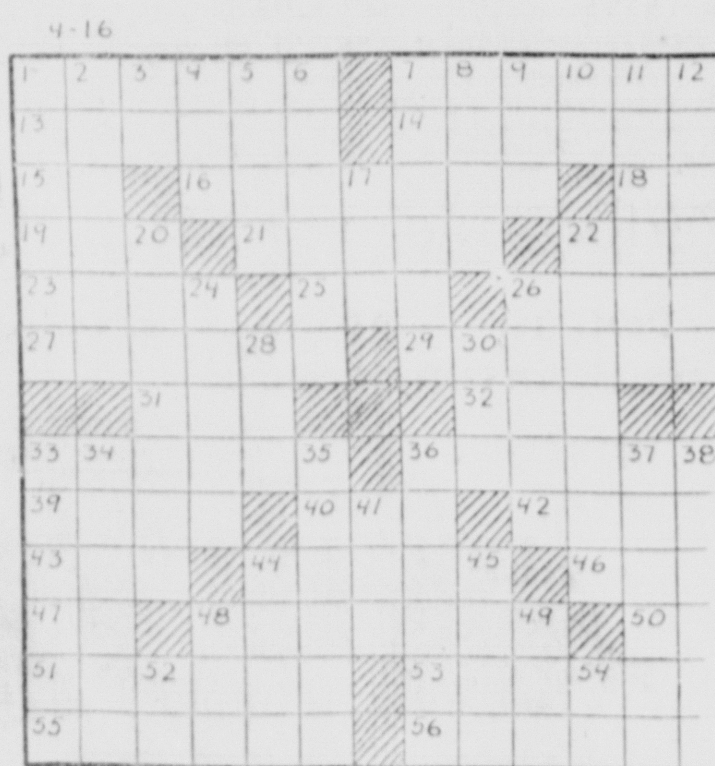

At all the gates of the city, day and night, guards stand in little frame buildings often hardly more than sentry boxes, forming a customs ring around the city.

There was much smuggling before the war but there is supposed to be but little now. At one time it was popular to hide all sorts of things in loads of hay or sacks of grain. The octroi guards made a practice of ramming these with long slender pointed rods and stopped the irregular traffic.

Mrs. Thompson, during the past year received $3,243 through curb market sales. Helping to make up this total, Mrs. Thompson offered for sale practically every article produced in the farm home, as well as garden vegetables, decorative leaves, fresh meats and nuts.

DENVER BANKER RAPS FEDERAL HANDING OF AGRICULTURAL MART

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The federal farm board and the agriculture marketing act were attacked as part of "a fantastic dream of stabilization" and the repeal of the act was urged today by Daniel A. Millett, Denver stockman and banker, in addressing the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The program for the day also included a speech by Alexander H. Leage, chairman of the farm board. The law creating the board, Millett said, violates in its intent and purpose "the sound and proven rule of business that penalty of loss must rest on the loser." This he termed an ever present controlling factor tending to promote efficiency.

Much Money Invested

"The men in the great marketing and distributing business of this country with their enormous investments of capital, in plant and organization, properly fear the workings of this act," he continued. "It is evident that in the long run they cannot compete with their government, which they support and supply with funds through taxes—which taxes are used to their undoing."

The board becomes, he said, "the advisor, the banker, the builder, buyer and marketer for agriculture; and it may well finally become the dictator."

The Denver banker attacked again and again the crop reduction stand taken by the board. He asserted it was a recognition by the board of the "doctrine of scarcity," which would make combination effective through the control of production.

Nullifies Financing Act

"The decreased production put into effect under the marketing act," he said, "virtually nullifies the agriculture financing acts, and the work of the department of agriculture, for the last half century.

"The department of agriculture has with great ability and perseverance done for 50 years instructed farmers in methods of increasing production to the end that the unit cost of production might be reduced. That's sound."

"What a glaring inconsistency, to set up at the cost of taxpayers one set of government institutions to increase agricultural production, and lessen its cost, and then turn around and set up another galaxy of government institutions to increase the price of the thereby created surplus and to limit its production."

Millett asserted that what the business interests of the United States need is "not more combination, including farmers, but less interference with the law of economic supply and demand, functioning through price."

City Sued After Automobile Crash

LISBON, April 30.—Suit for $307 has been filed in common pleas court by Milton Arbuthnot against the City of East Liverpool as a result of a machine, driven by the plaintiff, sliding over an embankment on Ceramic street, East Liverpool, Feb. 18 last.

Arbuthnot states he was driving over the street, the bank gave way, and the machine rolled over the hillside, damaging the machine and causing injuries to the driver. The damage to the machine, however, has been placed at $18.

AFTER EVERYTHING ELSE FAILED, OWA-TON-NA BROUGHT RESULTS

Waynesburg Resident Could Not Dress Himself For Pain. Rheumatism and Piles Had Completely Broken Down Health

MR. WM. J. PARKER

Those who suffer from rheumatism or its kindred ailments and knew the discomfort and even torture which this affliction can bring about will find in the story of Mr. Wm. J. Parker, Waynesburg, Ohio, new hope since Mr. Parker has been completely relieved of the suffering from rheumatism and piles. He says: "For the past three years now I have been gradually going from bad to worse."

Everything that I had ever heard of that was good for rheumatism, I tried, yet nothing seemed to touch my trouble. I finally got so bad I couldn't even raise my arm. I would suffer for days at a time and different parts of my body felt as though someone were pouring white hot metal over me. Sharp, dagger-like pains made me want to cry out.

"After my system cleared up, the rheumatism started to leave me and in a short time the suffering was practically gone. Now the rheumatism is completely gone, piles which have caused me so much worry in the past few years are also gone. In fact, I feel like a new man. Owa-Ton-Na has done wonderful things for me and you can readily understand that I would recommend it to my friends. They too, are enthusiastic about Owa-Ton-Na and feel as I do that any sufferer who does not at least give it a trial, is making a great mistake."

Owa-Ton-Na is a preparation of medicinal herbs which is fast becoming the most popular seller wherever it has been introduced. Sold in Salem at J. H. Lease Drug Co., Three Streets.—Adv.

Survivor of Civil War Heroes

Minnesota's famous Last Man's Club is down to the last man. The death of Peter Hall reduced the gallant band of Civil War veterans to one, and on the survivor, Charles Lockwood, of South Chamberlain, S. D., has fallen the sad duty to drink a toast to his departed comrades out of the bottle of Burgundy which the original band purchased in 1886 at the inception of the club, with the understanding that the survivor would drink a toast in memory of the thirty-two who have passed on.

MOVIES

AT THE STATE

The shirring Barbara Stanwyck plays the lead in "Mexicali Rose," the all-talking drama of love and revenge at the state and stars in numerous attractive outfits in the roles of a gay, heartless coquette.

The plot revolves round "Happy" Manning, hard-boiled gambler, who is not too hard-boiled to have a soft spot in his heart for his younger brother, Bob.

"Happy" sends Bob to college, and believes that he has put him safely on the road to a happy career when he learns that "Mexicali Rose," one of his own discarded sweethearts, has lured the boy into marriage. The gambler does his best to adjust matters—but meets with a tragic result.

"Burning Up" is a fast action-romance with Richard Arlen as a youthful automobile racing demon. Mixed up with a gang of crooked race promoters and in love with Mary Brian whose father is marked as a victim by the gang, Arlen defends his reputation, defeats the gang, and wins the girl in one of the most thrilling climaxes ever seen in either a silent or talking moving picture.

The dialog in "Burning Up," far from retarding the action, actually speeds it up and makes the story a gripping reality which holds the attention at fever heat as it mounts and mounts in ever ascending climax. The love story is human and likeable.

"THE SACRED FLAME"

At The Grand

"The Sacred Flame," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone all talking picture starring Pauline Frederick, now at the Grand theater is proving one of the most popular engagements of the season.

The play is an adaptation of the stage hit of W. Somerset Maugham. The cast includes Conrad Nagel, Walter Byron, William Courtenay, Lila Lee, Alec B. Francis and Dale Fuller.

Archie Mayo directed.

Report Carol Seeks Favor Of His Wife

BUCHAREST, RUMANIA, April 30.—Dashing Prince Carol, who sold the throne which was his birthright for life with a titian-haired innamorata on the Parisian boulevards, may come back home and ask forgiveness of his ex-wife, Princess Helen of Greece, who is mother of his son, King Michael.

The newspaper Cuventful says it has confirmation of rumors that the former crown prince is attempting a reconciliation with his ex-wife and that he has broken off Mrs. Mme. Lupescu. The prince is supposed to have written a letter conveying this idea to the princess at Easter.

Mushball Managers To Meet At Memorial Building Friday

THE DAY In Sports

QUADRANGULAR MUSHBALL MEETING PLAN CLASSY TEAM

LESS INTEREST is being displayed in Columbian county scholastic circles in the Carnegie Tech meet at Pittsburgh than there has been for some years. This is despite the fact that Salem's full squad of track and field performers will be competing in the Keystone state and all happens because of the fact that East Palestine and three other county teams will be visiting for county laurels in a four-cornered affair at Lisbon fair grounds at the same hour that the Stonemen will be in Pittsburgh.

The immense interest is precipitated in Salem because fans here watch with interest the showing of Palestine athletes and fear that at last the Red and Black will win in position where the county meet is held in East Liverpool next month. And Palestine is meriting this seriousness of interest, its athletes having to-date shown greater all around strength than has Salem's track and field combination.

LEETONIA, COLUMBIANA and Lisbon are a trio of the county's lesser lights and probably will prove little opposition for the Palestine crew. But then the new scoring system that is agitated by Faculty Manager William Ward will be used giving the three less favored institutions a better chance for victory. How this scoring plan will work out is another reason for interest in the Lisbon meet.

Mushball games, representative of the mangle that is played by persons of both sexes and men of all ages, will meet at the Memorial building Friday to organize another city playground league. New rules have been adopted and will be placed before managers and everything points to another successful warm-weather athletic season here.

IDEAL BASEBALL weather is rapidly approaching and it won't be long now until Salem fans will be wondering what they're going to do on week ends. Cleveland will be the mecca of many on Saturday's and Sundays but Dun Eden park, where a strong team is being organized, will undoubtedly be a favored place when fans start figuring on where to go for their baseball entertainment. Coach "Pete" Scullion will have what is without doubt one of the strongest teams in this vicinity and which will probably be Salem's only representative in sandlot competition.

THE McARTOR Florists basketball team, backed by Perry McArtor will have its annual banquet tonight. Members of the team are requested to assemble at the Memorial building at 5:30 from where they will proceed to the place where the fete will be held. McArtor's team won the second half championship in the city Class A league but was defeated in the titular playoff by the Golden Eagle team.

What The Stars Did Yesterday

BABE HERMAN, Robins—Hit homer, triple and single, drove in seven runs, as Robins trimmed Giants, 19-15.

RAY BENGE, Phils—Held Braves to five hits and beat them, 8-2.

BABE RUTH, Yankees—Smacked three doubles, drove in three runs and scored one but Yankees lost to Senators, 11-8.

CARL SWETONIC, Pirates—Went in as relief pitcher and held Cubs to one hit in 3-2-3 innings as Pirates won, 13-9.

MICKEY COCHRANE and AL SIMMONS, Athletics—Divided eight hits between them to help A's trim Red Sox, 9-5.

NEW YORK—John Emerson was strolling a deck on the Europa near sailing time. "Have you seen Mrs. Emerson?" he asked. "She came aboard ahead of me and has taken the keys of the cabin." On another deck his friend ran into Anita Loos. "Mrs. Emerson?" he asked. "He's gone strolling with the keys to the cabin?" They have sailed happy.

Big Innings Feature Tilts In National League; Tribe Trims Browns On Home Run

(By The Associated Press)

The idea of having one big inning to win a baseball game seems to be coming more and more into favor in the major leagues, either by accident or intent.

The sluggers of the big leagues, now finding their batting eyes rapidly after a rather slow start, are becoming a group of opportunists, pounding out enough runs to gain the victory at the moment the opposing pitcher weakens.

The seven big league games played yesterday gave just one set of illustrations of this fact out of the many that have turned up lately. Three of these seven were decided directly by the one big inning while the same factor had an important bearing on the result of the Brooklyn-New York Giant slugging match in which most of the innings were big ones. The Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals had no chance to hit, due to wet grounds.

Robins Win 19 to 15.
The Robins and the Giants carried the idea to its limit as Brooklyn won for the second time in a row by a score of 19 to 15. Brooklyn scored eleven runs off four Giant pitchers in the second frame only to have the Manhattan warriors come back with a nine run third frame.

Philadelphia's National league club likewise won an entire game in one inning with the Boston Braves as their victims. After seven scoreless stanzas of a duel between Ray Benge of the Phillies and Bob Smith of Boston, Philadelphia suddenly started hitting in the eighth to score all its runs in an 8 to 2 triumph.

The Pittsburgh Pirates gave the Chicago Cubs seven runs in the first three innings and got them all back in one to beat the National league champions 13 to 9. The Pirates picked up a few runs first, but it was the seven counters in the sixth that gave them their ninth victory in eleven games and put them at the top of the National league standing.

Senators Have Big Inning

duced the only big inning in the four American league games to win their eighth in a row and make their winning streak the longest either major league has seen this year. They also gave away seven runs in three innings then tied the score in the third as they pounded Tom Zachary and Roy Sherid from the mound and went on to defeat the New York Yankees 11 to 8. Five Yankee errors contributed to New York downfall, three of them contributed to the Senator rally.

The champion Philadelphia Athletics were content to get their runs in pairs, but led by Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane, they got four twosomes and a single to beat the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 5. Old Red Faber of the Chicago White Sox fubared forth one of the day's two good pitching feats as Chicago downed the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 6. Faber went the full nine innings and although he gave 14 hits, he fanned seven and had the backing of two home runs by Carl Reynolds and one by Bill Cassell. Cleveland's 6 to 4 victory over

SALEM FIRM IS AUTHORITY ON ELECTRIC WORK

Beal Battery, Electric Shop In Position To Do Good Work

To be an authority on any subject nowadays is an accomplishment not to be ignored. Men spend lifetimes mastering knowledge and its application to one line of endeavor. Time was when a mechanic was expected to know all there is to know about an automobile. He was an authority, or at least seemed to be, on every part of the car. But that was before this part and that became so complicated. Now we have tire specialist, brake specialist, body repair specialist, and not the least by any means electric specialist.

The latter would appear to be a real necessity. Electricity is a trade in itself, one that is developing so rapidly that it is being divided into specialties. To expect the average repair man to be expert on battery and ignition systems is asking too much. The wide range of knowledge called for must be learned and used by men who concentrate on this work.

In Salem this work is attended to by the Beal Battery and Electrical service, which for several years has devoted its attention to the electrical features of automotive work, and which has in that time attained unusual efficiency in it.

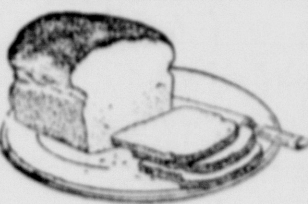

You will find that this company is the authorized service station for a large number of the electric systems of cars, that it has the most modern and well equipped shop for this work, and that in battery ignition system and general electric motor repair it is well qualified to give you splendid attention and prompt repair.

Comfort, Safety In Using Wright Taxis

When you want to get any place in safety and in a hurry, the way it is done in Salem is to call one of the fine cars of the Wright Taxi company, and ride in comfort. These cars are manned by experienced, careful drivers who have drilled into them courtesy and service all the time.

The cars used are all of the higher type of fine sedans, most of them new, and kept in perfect condition. In promptness, reliability and comfort, Manager Wright declares, his aim is to render 100% service and he is satisfied with nothing else.

Axelrod Yards In City Well Stocked

In the older days, when a machine broke it meant nine times out of ten that it must be laid up until the factory could be reached and the part sent on, with the probable addition of telegraph and express charges. The universality of the automobile has changed that not only in one line but in many. Nowadays when a man has a broken part in his car he gets himself to The Axelrod Auto Wrecking Company doing business at 26 East Pershing, gets the part he wants and has the car running in a short time. That is not only convenience, it is real service.

This stock carried in this place includes parts for all of the more popular machines and for most of the less known. It has about everything that a man could need, too. One does not like to think of the possibility of needing a part, but everyone who drives does need such attention at some time, and it surely is a convenience to be able to get it right in town, without an instant's delay, and yet not have to pay a fancy price for the convenience.

The line includes used batteries, used tires and tubes, used radiators and a large number of new accessories. It also has the exclusive agency for the well known Harrison radiator.

The stock of used parts covers just about everything. As the company operates wrecking yards at Alliance, Steubenville, Massillon and Uhrichville, as well as a general storehouse, any part can be found in one of its storehouses and delivered not later than the next day.

The company buys all makes of cars, has a wrecker and trucks for its service and covers all this part of Ohio. The local office is under the management of Julius Axelrod.

Great Care Taken Of Goods Moved By Herron Company

If for several years you could contact a trucking business and a moving business, handling a good many hundreds of loads of freight and household goods during that time, and you could sit back and say with a good conscience that in all that time and with all the goods that had been handled there had never been a loss to a customer, you would have a right to be a little proud of good work well done.

That is the statement of A. J. Herron, who does a general trucking and moving business and operates a storage warehouse at 1025 Franklin st. It certainly shows that his work has been done with a carefulness that should commend him to any one who has anything to transport. And when to that is added the idea of on time service, by which he does well what he engages to do at the time he has promised to do it, it would seem as though Mr. Herron has won his way to be entitled to consideration among the people.

As a matter of fact, he has done better than that, because people who have to move, whether it be just around the corner or clear across the state, ask Mr. Herron to take the job off their hands, and he does so with a celerity and a carefulness that have won him the commendation of the many for whom he has in the last few years performed similar services.

Natural Gas Gives Big Results For Low Costs

Probably all things considered the one article in general domestic use that gives the most for its cost is natural gas. When it is used in the right kind of appliance, it gives more useful heat than any other fuel for the money, and it is the most convenient to use. Not so many people in Salem of the present generation have ever cooked over anything else. In a recent discussion of this feature of a college class of 112 had ever cooked a meal over anything else.

But those who have built fires of wood or coal, waited for it to get burning right, had it balk and smoke and suffered in the summertime from its heat not being told of the convenience of gas. Nor need those who have been compelled to use substitutes for gas need to be told of its economy.

Best results of burning gas are to be had in appliances that are designed for it, especially in those having the approval of the laboratories of the American Gas Association. Here appliances are so tested that their actual efficiency is determined, and their value thereby demonstrated. Use of gas in these is usually safe, always economical and always convenient.

Visit your local gas company. Learn all they have to tell you about the use of gas. Inspect the appliances they have. See how, when rightfully applied, gas will save your labor and your money and add to your comfort and convenience.

CLEVELAND.—Landlords who go around offering $15,000 a year decreases in rent aren't so abundant today and that's why it was news when the Hanna Building here offered the Cleveland Railway Company a $15,000 cut in rent recently, if it would consent to stay there instead of moving.

Quality of furniture has been said to be a measure of culture. It is contended that the home will display the real taste of the occupants, and that the character of the furniture will stamp the family's claim to refinement. Perhaps, with the man of none too great means, that is carrying the matter a little too far, for many will wish that they could have better furnishings all through the home. But even furniture of low price may reflect the discrimination of the occupants of the house. Anyhow, furniture that is in good taste, furniture that reflects the aspirations and desires of the household can be had at reasonable prices and hence there is little excuse for household furniture that does not show itself as quality goods.

For 30 years the well known W. S. Arbaugh furniture store has been selling quality goods to Salem people, and it is doubtful if there is a community in the state of Ohio that will show better taste and appropriateness in its household furnishings. Maybe the influence of the store has something to do with this. Good furniture of good construction, at fair prices, is worth far more not only in wearing qualities, but also in furnishing the right atmosphere for the home, than any cheaply constructed furniture can be. Take a look at the display in Arbaugh's. See for yourself that each piece has something more than its usefulness to commend it, that it represents a definite standard of quality as well as its use. Your own discrimination will convince you that to be up to the standard you have set for yourself you will want furniture that possesses the quality which is so evident a feature at Arbaugh's.

NEW JERSEY DRY HEAD TO RESIGN

Detroit Special Agent To Succeed W. J. Calhoun In Eastern Post; In Service 10 Years

WASHINGTON, April 30.—W. J. Calhoun will resign as prohibition administrator for New Jersey today.

Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced the impending resignation, saying that Dwight Ayle, special agent at Detroit, would be detailed as administrator in New Jersey until July 1.

Doran said Calhoun was resigning to enter private business in northern New Jersey. He added Calhoun had been a splendid enforcement officer. Calhoun has been in the government service for about 10 years.

The detailing of Ayle to handle the New Jersey situation only until July 1 indicated that the treasury expects the prohibition enforcement problem to be transferred to the department of justice by that time.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

Because filet mignon is in the lobster class on the hotel or restaurant menu, the home woman who enjoys this delicacy may assume that it is too costly a cut to buy for home use. True, filet mignon does cost more per pound than all the other steaks—sometimes twice as much. Nevertheless, it isn't really more expensive.

The cut known as filet mignon is solid meat—there is no bone, gristle or waste. Every bit that is bought is edible meat. This choice section is the tenderloin underneath the rib, and it is the most tender, luscious portion of beef. A small slice or a pound or so is suitable for broiling, and sufficient for two persons. But for the main dish at a company dinner, a cut of four or five pounds can be roasted.

And it has this advantage over the other roasts—it can be cooked quickly. Other cuts of lamb, beef or pork, to serve a number of persons require an hour or two or even more of cooking—not so pleasant on a warm day. But a five-pound filet mignon needs only half an hour of baking, which should win it a place in the esteem of the cook. And as it is boneless and fatless, the carver too has an easy time of it at table. The butcher will prepare a filet mignon for cooking, if it is ordered early in the day.

Filet Mignon

6 pounds tenderloin of beef
2 carrots
2 onions
1 bunch parsley
1/2 pound larding pork (not salt).
All bits of sinew are removed from the surface of the meat, which must then be larded by drawing strips of the pork through, with a larding needle. (Or the strips of pork can be forced through the meat by first making deep incisions with a long, narrow knife.) Place some pork in the bottom of a roasting-pan, add the sliced carrots and onions cut in thick sections. Then place the beef on these, cover with a few bits of pork and roast in a hot oven from 30 to 40 minutes. Baste every 10 minutes with the fat in the pan. At the end add 1 teaspoon salt.

When ready, remove to a hot platter, large enough for convenient carving, accompanied by a sauce-boat of pan gravy.

The more delicate vegetables should be served with filet mignon—fresh asparagus or green peas, mushrooms, broccoli, okra, fresh limas.

Sauce for Filet Mignon

1 cup fresh mushrooms.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup pan gravy.
1 cup boiling water.
1/2 lemon.
The mushrooms should be peeled, the caps and stems separated and cooked in the cupful of boiling water until tender. Place the flour in a saucepan, gradually rub in the pan gravy (which contains the fat as well as juices) and simmer until smooth, rubbing constantly. Last add the mushrooms, the water in which they have been cooked and the lemon juice and let boil for one minute.

Filet mignon is usually accompanied by a slightly acid dressing in public restaurants, and if this is preferred, then the pan gravy can be heated with the addition of a few tablespoons of tomato sauce or catsup, and a dash of lemon juice. However, a too tart sauce of this kind seems to overwhelm the naturally delicate flavor of the meat, and so it is perhaps less preferable than a milder sauce.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

There's no such thing as too much precaution against moths—and they are among the insects that stubbornly appear so often, fight them as we may. To be on the safe side, many methods should be adopted, and each year there are newer, better inventions which are designed to help housekeepers win this perennial battle.

The small electric brooms which are now on the market are a great help in the first steps toward moth annihilation. They are designed like vacuum cleaners, but weigh only three or four pounds, and the brush is small enough to get into all sorts of tiny crevices—but the motor is powerful enough to suck out every vestige of hidden dust. The electric brush can be used on all kinds of clothing as well as tufted furniture, drapes, bedding and so on.

Closets that are to keep clothes in storage over a period need thorough cleansing—dry and liquid—and a few additional safeguards as well. A new bit of ammunition is a crystallized vapor that comes in perforated cans, and after placing in a closet this will slowly spread, and annihilate any stray moths. (It should be remembered, however, that neither moth balls nor vapors kill hidden eggs. These have to be dug out firmly by a cleaning process—brushes, brooms, dry cleaning.)

Fabric clothing bags are now made so that they are almost hermetically sealed against moth intrusion. The zipper type of fastener is used at the sides so that once the clothes are in they are tightly sealed. Another great convenience is the moth-proof handbag. It is made of computation paper, looks like a valise and can be carried about conveniently. Tar paper lined, it is an insurance against moth invasion, and can hold many small pieces of clothing, drapery, etc.
